Course Information

Drawing and Rendering introduces you to the visual language of drawing from observation and rendering a realistic image. The fundamentals of drawing will be explored through a variety of materials and processes, with the primary emphasis on working from observation. This class will develop your understanding of both the physical and conceptual construction of a drawing—how to organize dynamic and meaningful compositions and how the individual components of the drawing relate to the whole. Class time will be spent exploring materials and techniques, working collaboratively, and critically evaluating methods and practices. You will develop observational skills using traditional drawing media while developing critical thinking and research skills.

Drawing is hard work. It takes a great deal of time and practice; there are no “secrets” or “tricks” to learning how to draw, except to draw every day. If you draw every day with effort and thoughtfulness, you will be better at drawing at the end of this term. You will need a certain level of vulnerability in this course, as you will be learning, practicing, and refining skills in a studio environment with your peers. You will work hard, and you will make mistakes; however, we will frame mistakes as discoveries and opportunities for growth.

Course Objectives

By the end of this course, you will be able to:

- Accurately render what you see in varying techniques of increasing complexity,
- Demonstrate discipline, visual sensitivity, patience, eye-hand coordination, work ethic, and a solid vocabulary to build future course work,
- Develop critical thinking and research skills
- Conceptualize and articulate work and ideas.

	F: 55%-0%
10%- Participation

A =Superlative work: Careful attention to craft and presentation. Intent and execution of the piece work together in a significant and original way. Goes beyond merely solving the problem - one's performance at this level is visibly outstanding.

A- =Very fine work: Almost superlative. A few minor changes could be made to bring the piece together. Goes beyond merely solving the problem.

B+ =Above average: Solution to the problem and idea are well planned. Execution is well done. This is an honorable grade.

B =A bit above average: Evidence of originality, craft, and presentation. The piece does not work as well as a unified whole or statement yet effort was made. Solid average work.

C+ =Problem solved: The requirements of the problem are met in a relatively routine way. A “C” represents satisfactory work, regular attendance, and successful accomplishment of the course.

C =Requirements of the problem are met in a relatively routine way. There is room for improving skills and concepts.

D=Inadequate work: The requirements of the problem are not addressed. The piece represents careless and /or incomplete effort. Some criteria met, work substandard.

F=Unacceptable work and effort

Grading guidelines will be explained in detail at the time each assignment is given. Always read the project description sheet! If anything seems unclear, you are responsible for asking the instructor for clarification in advance of the due date.

Note: A grade of C- or below does not count toward major requirements.

PARTICIPATION/ ETIQUETTE

SKETCHBOOK - You will keep a sketchbook for this course. It is good practice to draw in it regularly, ideally every day. Keep it with you at all times, and this will be infinitely easier to accomplish. For each project section, there will be a sketchbook prompt to help frame and guide your drawing practice. You will need to adhere to the prompt for each project section, but don't be afraid to draw more than is asked. Be mindful of your overall goal beyond our class, and practice drawing the things that excite you. At the end of the semester, you will turn in your sketchbook for evaluation. You may also turn in sketchbook practice incrementally throughout the semester. I will communicate how this will happen when we get a sense for what is best for everyone.

STUDIO - Participation, support, and respect in all phases of this course are imperative. The class dynamic depends on the group's energy, initiative, attitude, productivity, and willingness to get involved. Students are expected to participate during studio time, clean up, and practice safe and thoughtful use of materials, tools, and facilities. Students must silence cell phones during class.

CRITIQUE - Prepare questions, solicit responses, and encourage constructive criticism during group discussions and critiques. Take notes in your sketchbook during discussions to gauge the effectiveness of your work. Even if you are not prepared to turn in your project, come to critique.

See the current UF grading policies for more information.

Tips for Success

- Schedule "class times" for yourself. It is important to do the coursework on time each week. You will receive a reduction in points for work that is turned in late!
- Read ALL of the material contained on this site. There is a lot of helpful information that can save you time and help you meet the objectives of the course.
- Print out the Course Schedule and check things off as you go.
- Ask for help or clarification of the material if you need it.
- Do not wait to ask questions! Waiting to ask a question might cause you to miss a due date.
- Do your work well before the due dates. Sometimes things happen. If your computer goes down when you are trying to submit an assignment, you'll need time to troubleshoot the problem.
- To be extra safe, back up your work to an external hard drive, thumb drive, or through a cloud service.
