PRESENTATION OF PRACTICES

Presentation of Practices is designed to give BFA Studio Art seniors a platform for presenting original research and creative work in a public forum. The course introduces students to professional expectations and best practices across various presentation contexts and provides students opportunities to develop the skills integral to planning, staging, documenting, and publicizing exhibitions, performances, and other modes of distributing creative work. Presentation of Practices includes seminar lectures, hands-on workshops, student presentations, independent research, and a formal group exhibition of work by course participants. Through these engagements, students will utilize the skills, insights, and strategies required of creative professionals working in an increasingly complex world of cultural production.

COURSE GOALS

To think independently and critically as professional creatives

To actively engage opportunities in the arts as cultural producers

To set achievable goals and objectives for the distribution of one's research and practice

To understand both commodity and theoretical systems encountered across arts industries

To strengthen engagement in a chosen discipline in preparation for future endeavors

To organize, promote, present, document, and contextualize art practice in professional formats and venues

To educate the UF arts community through the sharing of creative research

TEXTBOOKS + COURSE MATERIALS

There is no textbook to purchase for this course. All reading materials and media will be posted to the drive.

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATION

Please contact the instructor via email for all course-related inquiries.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE

Since writing, analytical, and critical thinking skills are integral aspects of Presentation of Practices, all writing assignments should be prepared by the student. Developing strong competencies in this area will prepare you to be competitive in the workplace, as well as in pursuit of grants, residencies, exhibitions, and other opportunities. Therefore, writing submissions generated with the assistance of artificial intelligence—i.e. ChatGPT—are not permitted and will be treated as plagiarism.

ATTENDANCE + PARTICIPATION

Students are expected to be present physically and mentally in every class session, participating fully in each class session. That means no aimless internet usage and no working on assignments for other courses.

Cellphones should be silenced and stored for the entirety of class. Students are expected to engage consistently in course discussions, conversing critically with their peers, instructor, and guests.

Attendance will be taken at the start of each class meeting. There are two permitted absences. These can be personal, medical, or for any other reason. No documentation is required, though you are advised to contact your instructor in advance when you are going to be absent. Arriving to class more than 30 minutes late, or departing more than 30 minutes early, will count as an absence. Arriving to class over 10 minutes late, or leaving more than 10 minutes early, more than three times will count, cumulatively, as an absence. Beyond the two permitted absences, each additional unexcused absence will result in a 10-point penalty in a student's Attendance + Participation grade. If you are growing concerned about your attendance, please contact your instructor directly. Transparent communication is strongly encouraged.

ABSENCES AND EMERGENCIES

Students who need to be absent for an emergency, illness, court appearance, death in the family, or to observe a religious holiday need to inform the instructor ahead of time via email. If you must be absent, it can only be excused with proper written explanation, following discussion with the instructor. Please see the University of Florida Attendance Policies for more information about excused absences:

PARTNER SYSTEM

Each student is paired with a Presentation of Practices Partner. Please exchange contact information and make a habit of checking in with one another. When a student misses class, they should contact their partner to obtain missed information.
