DESCRIPTION

The saxophone chamber music program at the University of Florida provides the student with the opportunity to work with a small number of other musicians to create art in a chamber music setting. The course includes the following components:

Rehearsals with Dr. Helton, or with a Graduate Assistant, will take place regularly. Instruction will focus on techniques that will enable the ensemble to progress most efficiently. Particular emphasis will be placed on musical aspects of chamber performance: shaping lines, intonation, musical communication and ensemble performance.

Concerts will take place one or two times per semester. You must be present at all required concerts in order to pass the class. Concert dates will be posted on Canvas.

OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this course the student should have an increased awareness of the challenges and rewards of rehearsing and performing chamber music. The student should have a specific knowledge of performing in the areas of repertoire, rehearsal techniques, and performance practices.

MATERIALS

Music will be provided by the instructor from his personal library and from the saxophone studio library. Instruments (sopranino, soprano, tenor, baritone and bass) may be available from the School of Music. The student will be responsible for the purchase of reeds and mouthpieces, if required.
